King's College was founded by Henry VI. in 1441 for students, and enlarged in 1445 as a College for Etonians, being reserved to their use until quite recently. Its great glory is the beautiful Chapel, a magnificent building commenced by Henry VI. in 1446, but not completed until 1533. The picture shows the early 19th century Gothic Screen, and beyond, the Chapel. In the distance appear the Senate House, Caius College, and the tower of St. John's College Chapel

Dear Lad, very much pleased during the last few days. St. Luke's Lad came up on Saturday and we two then went up to work. When I arrived Stella came your room that I knew so well. Yesterday I took a walk round to most men were in Surprise Hall except came back to work at 7.30. I was in the middle of my meal, Stella came round to my room, asking to be a walk, which I did!! The market is very full here. With love. Jim.
